

SECTION A: Explained in the Lecture Called: (A+B) Your Investment Portfolio Data Basics: "Section A". Please only change the white shaded cells in this spreadsheet.
Ticker Symbol	Name	Market Capitalization	Price	% Daily Price Change	Daily Change in the Price	Day's High	Day's Low	Open	Previous Close	Volume	Average Daily Volume
Your investment portfolio value is 5,211 Canadian dollars. The descriptions of all of the data items are on the right of this cell (in this row). Please scroll down to see your portfolio.
We need the ticker when using Yahoo Finance to select our investments. Select the ticker that has "-USD" beside it when you update the data per the instructions in row 106 on the Settings tab. If you did not select "dollars" as your currency on the Settings tab, then the value of your portfolio in your currency will show up on this tab in cell A5.
Name of the Cryptocurrency appears below. Please note, that you can also enter stocks, bonds, ETFs and real estate investment trusts in your portfolio. Before doing so, please make sure to complete all of the lessons in Part 7.1 thanks.
The Market Capitalization is the size of the company and is = Outstanding Shares * Price
Last Price the investment traded at.
Percent change since the last trading day.
$ Change for this investment since the last trading day.
The highest price reached today (or on the last trading day if the markets are closed).
The lowest price reached today (or on the last trading day if the markets are closed).
The first price the investment traded at today.
What the investment closed at on the previous trading day.
The number of shares that have traded today or yesterday if the market is closed.
This is the average number of shares traded. Don't buy if it's too low or you become a "stuckholder" and can't sell it easily.
